PERSONAL STATEMENT

I am an Industrial Engineering graduate from Middle East Technical University with strong analytical, communication, and teamwork skills. My most significant advantages are being a fast learner, making decisions under critical conditions, and working under pressure in both individual and group works. With the help of courses about OR problems and optimization problems taken in the department, I can research, use different software, process data, prepare reports, and make presentations. Also, good at systemic thinking and connecting the dots.
